The Aspects of Youth Apprenticeship

On-the-Job Learning gives you the opportunity to train your workforce, your way. Youth apprentices spend a minimum of 450 (1-year apprenticeship) to 900 (2-year apprenticeship) hours training with your company's skilled worksite mentors.

Related Instruction is taught concurrently so youth can learn in the classroom and apply learned skills at the worksite. Instruction enforces competencies determined by industry employers.

Wages are minimum wage or better and determined by the employer.

Employer sponsors offer permanent employment to 80% of 2-year youth apprentices.

A Comprehensive Solution

Youth Apprenticeship trains the future workforce in real occupations that are in high demand based on input from industry experts. Each year, Youth Apprenticeship sees an increase in student participation.

Employers across Wisconsin connect with over 8,300 apprentices each year. Youth Apprenticeship offers businesses an effective recruiting, training, and retention solution to meet their workforce needs.
